Ballarat ICT Breakfast

The University of Ballarat Technology Park and Ballarat ICT Ltd breakfast brings together information and communications technology (ICT) professionals and other stakeholders from Ballarat and the broader region.

Turning bright ideas into brilliant outcomes speed, knowledge, research results, discovery, innovation...

The Australian Synchrotron is a world-class facility with a rapidly growing reputation for producing high-quality results. It gives researchers access to an extraordinary set of tools for performing leading-edge medical, scientific and industrial research. Find out how it all works and learn about eResearch and ICT challenges and advances in areas including:

- Petabyte data storage
- Scheduling supercomputing resources in 'real time'
- High speed wide area networking
- Removal of experimentation with high energy equipment
- Data curation
- New algorithms for imaging research

Guest speaker: Richard Farnsworth, Australian Synchrotron

Richard Farnsworth has worked in engineering, software and IT, in both the public and private sectors for 25 years. As Head of Computing, Richard was the Lead Controls' Systems Engineer on the Australian Synchrotron Project, which involved management of the Synchrotron Accelerator and Beamlines Instrumentation and Controls Teams and Synchrotron ICT Group. He has overseen the building, installation and operation of systems solutions in a variety of complex and specialised industries and projects, and is currently working at the leading edge of IT and eResearch issues in the synchrotron.
